There are lots of ways to get to PS 71.

We might drive in the car.

Or maybe we'll take the subway—either the M to Forest Ave or the L to Myrtle/Wyckoff.

We might even ride the bus. Here are the buses that have stops near Extreme Kids:

Q54, B38, Q39, Q58, QM24, QM34, QM25, Q38, Q67, B13

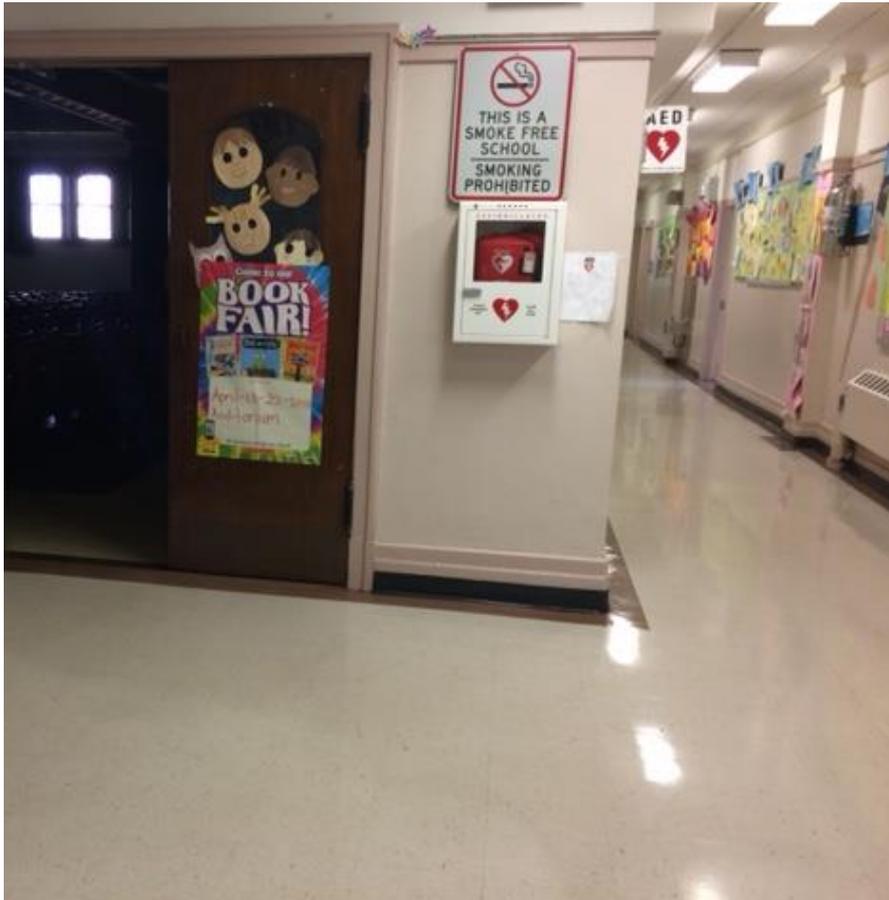

This is 62-85 Forest Ave or PS 71.
It's a school!

We will go through the green doors and head straight up the stairs and to the security desk.

Chris will be there to say hello and show us where to go when we arrive at PS 71.

We'll head straight down the hall to the second door on the right side.

We made it--come on inside!

At Extreme Kids we will meet some new grown ups.
We might see...

When we get inside Extreme Kids, we will take off our shoes. We will say hello to our friends and teachers and then we can go into the gym while we wait for class to start!

It is ok to play while we wait, but once our teachers come in we will put on our listening ears and follow their directions!

Our grown ups will take class with us at Extreme Kids--they will play, stretch, and move along with what we do!

Bring your stretchy pants, caregivers!

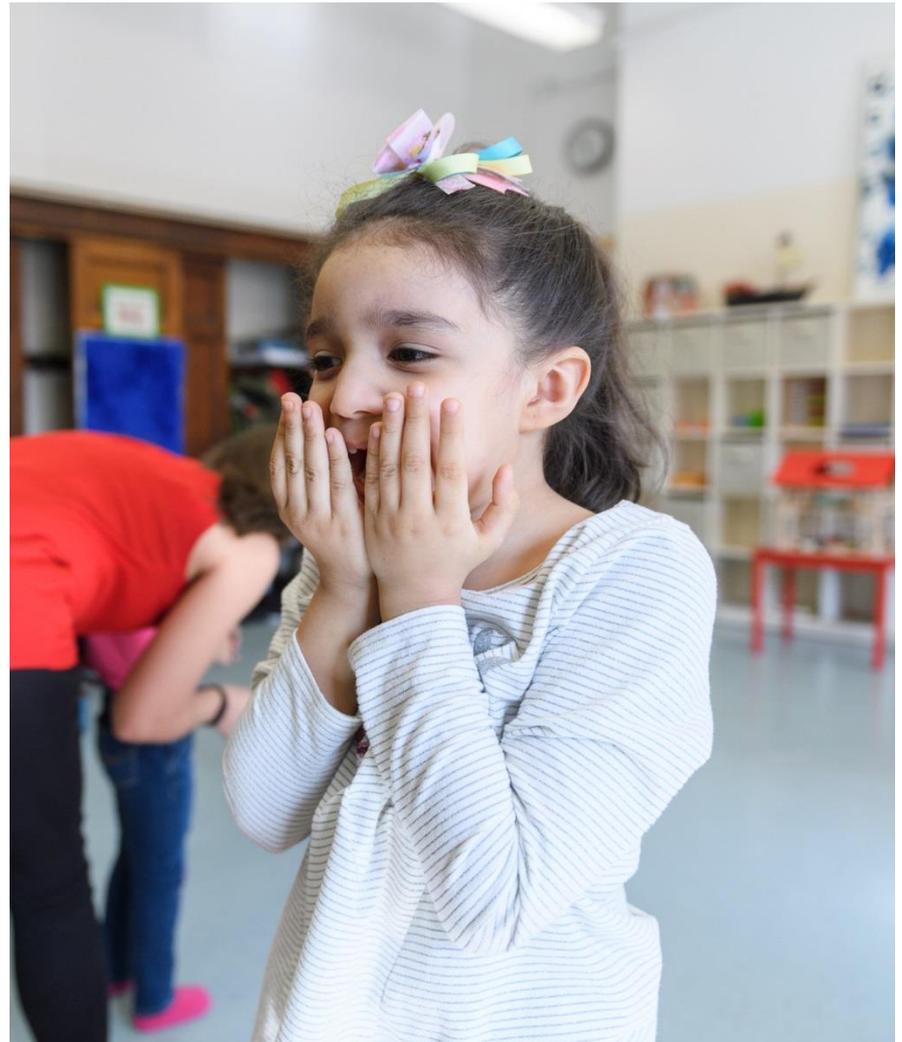

Part of having fun together is always being gentle with our friends' bodies.

What does being gentle look like when you do it?

We will get excited,
but in class we always use our inside voices.

What does an inside voice sound like?

Our teacher for Drum-a-long is named Ivan. He is a musician who plays the drums. In our class he will play his drum and we will all sing together.

When Ivan comes and sits down with his drum, it means that class is starting.

First we will sing a hello song together. Then we will start to warm up our bodies by stretching and moving to the words in Ivan's song.

Ivan will bring us lots of different instruments to listen to.
Some of them we will even be able to play ourselves!

We can ask him if we want to touch something.

Tambourine

Djembe

Egg Shaker

Music class can be loud. We can also borrow headphones from Extreme Kids if we want!

Ivan will play some songs that we know and others that we have never heard before.

We can sing along when we know the words. If we don't know them, we can play our shakers or move our bodies to the beat.

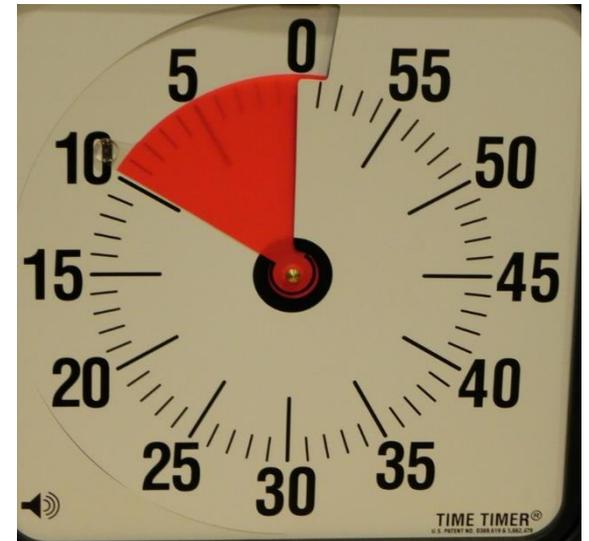

In class, we will play games and use our imaginations.

Sometimes we will be silly and move around a lot. Other times we will practice calming our bodies down together. Ivan will give us directions for each part of class so that we know just what to do!

Every class, Ivan will read us a story. We will listen carefully for the parts when we all sing together. I wonder what the story will be about this week!

At the end of class, it will be time for free play in the gym. After we sing our good-bye song with Ivan, we will have 10 minutes to make our own choices about what to play.

Once our ten minutes are up, we will say good-bye to the gym and go put on our shoes and coats.

Music class is going to be awesome!
